

In Memoriam

United Nations

Fallen in the Cause of Peace

Every day, in field operations around the world, men and women serve under the flag of the United Nations to build and maintain peace, to relieve human suffering, and to promote human rights and sustainable development.

With integrity, commitment and courage they meet humanity's greatest challenges, overcoming any fears for their personal safety or security. Tragically, in this noble endeavour, there are those who make the ultimate sacrifice.

In honour of their memory, we dedicate ourselves to continuing their mission, at Headquarters and in the field. We share the grief of their loved ones and pledge ourselves to ensuring that their sacrifice in the service of the United Nations will not have been in vain.

United Nations peacekeepers who lost their lives in the service of peace, January - December 2005

Message from the Secretary-General of the United Nations

The United Nations was founded by men and women who dreamt of peace because they knew the cost of war. We in our time, and especially in the last year, have also witnessed friends and colleagues pay the ultimate price in the cause of peace.

Our fallen colleagues went out into the world with the conviction that their service could make a difference between war and peace, poverty and security, oppression and freedom. They showed in their work and in their lives that human conflict is not inevitable, that poverty can be defeated, and that the promise of peace and tolerance exists among all peoples.

We at the United Nations have an obligation to honour their memory and build on their legacy. For the sake of those we mourn today, and those we may mourn tomorrow, let us ensure that we do our utmost to fulfil that duty.

Kofi A. Annan
