Outcome Document of the High Level Meeting on the Realization of the Millennium Development Goals and other internationally agreed development goals for persons with disabilities: “The Way Forward, a disability inclusive development agenda towards 2015 and beyond”

I. Values and Principles

1. We, the Heads of State and Government, have gathered at United Nations Headquarters in New York on 23 September 2013, to reaffirm our resolve to work together for disability inclusive development and the commitment of the international community to the advancement of the rights of all persons with disabilities which is deeply rooted in the goals of the United Nations Charter and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

2. We reaffirm the need for the realization of the Millennium Development Goals and other internationally agreed development goals for persons with disabilities towards 2015 and beyond and recognize persons with disabilities as agents and beneficiaries of development acknowledging the value of their contribution for the general well being, progress and the diversity of society.

3. We are concerned that this commitment has yet to be fully translated into the inclusion of disability in internationally agreed development goals, including the Millennium Development Goals and, as 2015 approaches, strongly reiterate our determination to ensure the timely realization of the Millennium Development Goals and other internationally agreed development goals for persons with disabilities who make up an estimated 15 per cent of the world’s population, or 1 billion people of whom an estimated 80 per cent live in developing countries. In this regard, we stress the importance of ensuring accessibility for and inclusion of persons with disabilities in all aspects of development and of giving due consideration to all persons with disabilities in the emerging post-2015 United Nations development agenda.

II. Realizing the Development Goals for persons with disabilities towards 2015 and beyond

4. We underline the need for urgent action by all relevant stakeholders towards the adoption and implementation of more ambitious disability inclusive national development strategies and efforts with disability targeted actions, backed by increased international cooperation and support, and resolve to undertake the following commitments leading to 2015 and beyond:

a) Achieve the full application and implementation of the international normative framework on disability and development by encouraging the ratification and implementation of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) and by considering the ratification of its Optional Protocol, as both human rights and development instruments;

b) Ensure that all development policies, including those regarding poverty eradication, social inclusion, full and productive employment and decent work and access to basic social services, and their decision making processes take into account the needs of and benefit all persons with disabilities, including women, children, youth, indigenous peoples and older persons who can be subject to violence and multiple or aggravated forms of discrimination;

c) Develop specific plans, including, when necessary, the enactment or amendment and enforcement of national legislation, the harmonization of national legislative, policy and institutional structures and the adoption and implementation of national plans relevant to the Millennium Development Goals and other internationally agreed goals to advance the inclusion of persons with disabilities;

- d) Recognize the right to education on the basis of equal opportunity and non-discrimination by making primary education accessible, free and compulsory and available to all children with disabilities on an equal basis with others, and ensuring that all children have equal opportunity for access to an inclusive education system of good quality, and making early and secondary education generally available and accessible to all in particular for children with disabilities from low income families;
- e) Ensure accessibility for persons with disabilities to healthcare services including primary healthcare and specialized services, including by investing in and improving affordability of such services for persons with disabilities;
- f) Strengthen social protection for meeting disability-related needs, and promote access to relevant schemes based on social protection floors, on an equal basis with others, including income support, access to appropriate and affordable services, devices and other assistance;
- g) Encourage Member States to take sustainable measures to ensure equal access to full and productive employment and decent work on an equal basis and without discrimination to persons with disabilities including through promoting access to inclusive education system, skills development and vocational and entrepreneurial training to enable persons with disabilities to attain and maintain maximum independence;

- i) Improve disability data collection, analysis and monitoring for development policy planning, implementation and evaluation, fully taking into account regional contexts; share, where appropriate, relevant data and statistics with relevant agencies and bodies within the United Nations system including the Statistical Commission, through appropriate mechanisms and underline the need for internationally comparable data and statistics disaggregated by sex and age, including information on disability;
- j) Strengthen and support, in coordination with academic institutions and other relevant stakeholders, research to promote knowledge and understanding of disability and development, and adequately and efficiently allocate resources in this regard;
- k) Urge Member States, the United Nations system and humanitarian actors in accordance with their relevant mandates to continue to strengthen the inclusion of and focus on the needs of persons with disabilities into humanitarian programming and response, and include accessibility and rehabilitation as essential components in all aspects and stages of humanitarian response including through strengthening preparedness and disaster risk reduction;
- l) Encourage increased understanding, knowledge and greatest social awareness towards persons with disabilities, inter alia, by developing and implementing communication and social media campaigns by and in conjunction with persons with disabilities and organizations of persons with disabilities, in order to promote positive perceptions of persons with disabilities and seek to eliminate discriminatory social and attitudinal barriers so that they participate fully in society;

- n) Encourage regional and international development banks and financial institutions, consistent with their mandates, to include disability across their development efforts and lending mechanisms, taking into account that persons with disabilities are disproportionately affected also during economic crises;
- o) Encourage the mobilization of public and private resources on a sustainable basis to mainstream disability in development at all levels, and underline the need to promote and strengthen international cooperation and exchange of good practices, including regional and sub-regional cooperation, and South-South and triangular cooperation as a complement to rather than a substitute for North-South cooperation, and partnerships for disability inclusive development, in support of national efforts by, among others, ensuring that resources, capacity building, technical assistance including by facilitating access to and sharing of accessible and assistive technologies and through the transfer of technology on mutually agreed terms and other interventions advance disability inclusive development, ensure accessibility for persons with disabilities and promote their empowerment. Special attention should be paid to developing countries which are experiencing increasing difficulties in mobilizing adequate resources to meet pressing needs in mainstreaming disability in development including rehabilitation, habilitation, equalization of opportunities for persons with disabilities, health promotion and public health campaigns for the prevention of diseases and in addressing social, environmental and health risk factors through, inter alia, improving health care, maternal health, access to vaccination, access to clean water supply and sanitation and safe transport;
- p) Encourage private sector entities to partner with the public sector and civil society, in particular, organizations of persons with disabilities, to integrate, adopt and implement a disability perspective in accordance with national plans, policies and priorities in their corporate social responsibility initiatives (CSR);
- q) Support the objectives of the United Nations Partnership on the Promotion of Rights of Persons with Disabilities Multi Donor Trust Fund, including through voluntary contributions and encourage other stakeholders to do so.
