Comments by the State of Qatar concerning General Assembly resolution 73/210, entitled “Strengthening and promoting the international treaty framework”

Qatar notes that, with regard to registration and publication of treaties, the representatives of most States offered similar ideas about pending issues that the Sixth Committee must address and then submit to the Secretary-General. All States Members made two points that require follow up: using technology to facilitate registration and publication of treaties, and the importance of using all six official languages in the registration and publication of treaties.

Accordingly, Qatar believes that it would be appropriate to give due attention to the use of technology by States and the relevant United Nations departments to facilitate the publication process, and to develop a simple method for achieving that aim. In addition, Qatar stresses the importance of using the six official languages in the registration and publication of treaties.
