

ILC Recommendation

Agenda Item 86

Protection of Persons in the Event of Disasters (PPED)

Mr. Chair

Although with divergent views regarding the PPED draft articles, my delegation observes, with satisfaction, that there has been a growing awareness and greater attention from Member States, International Organisations and Donors and the need for international law to strengthen efforts at prevention, response, and recovery during disasters.

2. As mentioned by El Salvador, we wish to state and re-emphasize that our primary focus is persons in disasters and how to alleviate the sufferings of vulnerable communities. We are committed to work together with member states on a framework to address the challenges and frequency of disasters.

3. My delegation will continue to support the elaboration of a convention based on the draft articles which will serve as a base framework for cooperation in the face of disasters.

I thank you Mr. Chair
